2015 Consolidated Budget

Delivering on the IPU's Strategy while reducing the financial burden on Members

The Inter-Parliamentary Union (IPU) stands for better parliaments and stronger democracies. As the world organization of parliaments, it enables parliamentary debate, dialogue, cooperation and action at an international level and also delivers programmes, technical assistance and conducts research. Its annual budget provides the means to pursue these objectives.

The 2015 consolidated budget is a financial translation of the plan to implement the IPU's Strategy for 2012-2017. The plan for 2015 is set out in Section 5 as a summarized logframe, derived directly from the objectives of the Strategy. The budget anticipates gross operating expenditure for the year of CHF 15.5 million. The majority of the budget is funded by the contributions of Members, which will reduce overall by 3.4% compared to 2014. Voluntary income from a range of external donors to carry out programme activities will increase substantially to supplement the core income by an expected CHF 3.5 million.

The budget document also presents the relative positions of men and women in the IPU Secretariat and the resources allocated to gender issues and activities. Gender-specific allocations from regular funds represent 6 per cent of the regular budget. The combined budget for all gender-specific activities stands at CHF 1.5 million, 10 per cent of the total consolidated budget.

Despite increasing budgetary pressures, the IPU remains committed to curbing climate change by monitoring and publishing its greenhouse gas emissions and setting aside funds to offset its carbon footprint.

1. Introduction

1.1 Secretary General's summary

1. The proposed programme and budget for 2015 allows the IPU to continue to implement its Strategy for 2012-2017 while placing a lighter financial burden on IPU Members. The Governing Council has decided that the IPU must aim for significant reductions in assessed contributions in 2015 and beyond, apart from any new Members joining, and the consolidated budget has been prepared with this in mind. The Sub-Committee on Finance has been involved throughout the budget preparation process providing direction and oversight.
2. The UN scale of contributions has not changed this year. However, as the total value of assessed contributions for current Members has reduced by 3.4 per cent, the IPU scale has been automatically adjusted to reflect the reduced rate of individual contributions. As in recent years, this means absorbing annual inflationary increases and finding cost savings from our structure and activities, while also seeking ways to increase other sources of income.
3. Nevertheless, no cuts are envisaged in IPU programmatic work at a time when the global community is preparing for the post-2015 development agenda. Parliaments will need to position themselves to respond robustly to the challenges of the new development agenda. More energetic efforts to mobilize additional resources will yield fruit in 2015, enabling the IPU to maintain a stable level of activities while keeping tabs on Members' contributions.
4. The two statutory Assemblies will continue to be held, along with the meetings of the Governing Council, the Executive Committee (three times a year) and other statutory bodies and committees. The full range of IPU programme objectives will be pursued, with some reductions and reallocations of expenditure to the voluntary budget necessary in certain programme areas for 2015. Cost savings have also been found wherever possible through reorganization of activities and reducing core expenditures on staffing and operating costs.
5. Requirements from the Governing Council for additional activities and initiatives have nonetheless been incorporated into a smaller core expenditure budget. The Speakers' Conference will take place in 2015 at a budgeted cost of CHF 291,000. Without the expenditure on this five-yearly event, the reduction in total Member contributions would be over 6 per cent. Now that the Bureaux of the Standing Committees have been established to strengthen the effectiveness of the Committees, a provision of CHF 40,000 is included in the 2015 budget to support their work. The allocation of core funds to the Committee on Middle East Questions remains at CHF 40,000 to reflect the important political work that it carries out, and which goes to the core of the IPU's founding mandate: achieving peace through dialogue.
6. The IPU communications strategy has already enhanced the Organization's visibility and assisted in promoting resource-mobilization activities to attract additional voluntary funding from donors. During 2014 and 2015, the investment in the newly developed website will be completed and capitalized in the IPU's accounts. Once completed, funds will need to be allocated each year to maintain and update the content of the website to keep it dynamic and relevant.
7. Improving the functioning and effectiveness of the IPU will also require proper implementation of the Gender Mainstreaming Policy, following its adoption in 2013. The policy will continue to be implemented throughout the Organization in 2015 and beyond. This will involve the development of a plan of action with concrete objectives and targets, training of staff and developing mechanisms and tools to ensure that a gender perspective is central to all activities.
8. 2015 is expected to see a considerable increase in voluntary funding to the IPU programmes. The latest three-year commitment from the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida) to the IPU ended in June 2014 and a subsequent grant has been negotiated for the following three-year period beginning in July 2014. This partnership is unique in providing funds to the IPU that can be allocated with full flexibility to the areas of the Strategy where external support has been most needed. Further funding to the Gender Partnership Programme from Irish Aid and USAID has been secured following review processes at the end of their last grants. Worldwide Support for Development has embarked on a major five-year partnership with IPU, with a focus primarily on Asia. A partnership agreement has been signed with the United Arab Emirates which will support a range of activities, including greater focus on Arabic-language communications and technical assistance.

9. Agreements with other donors are under discussion, though the outcome of those approaches will in most cases not be known until after the 2015 budget has been approved. For the purposes of budget preparation we have included only those resources already quantifiable and committed or with a reasonable likelihood of materializing. In any event, no funds will be spent or committed until donations are formally confirmed. If the IPU is successful in mobilizing additional funds for more activities, the Secretariat will of course be responsive in deploying the additional resources needed to implement them.
10. The Working Capital Fund (WCF) has increased by CHF 3.5 million since the beginning of 2012 and now stands at CHF 8.4 million, composed both of available cash and investments and also of IPSAS-required accounting adjustments which cannot be realized in cash. Although the increases in the WCF will not be offset against the regular expenditure budget (as has happened in the past), a specific case is once again made in relation to the increased amortization charges that arise from the increases in IPU asset values prescribed by IPSAS.
11. In 2012, IPSAS compliance increased the asset value of the Headquarters building, which in turn directly increased the WCF. In 2013, implementation of a separate IPSAS standard required the amortization of the long-term FIPOI loan from the Swiss Confederation and raised the WCF value yet further. These increases in value have the effect of raising the depreciation charges, which must be serviced through the annual budget. With a lower core budget in nominal and real terms, the increased depreciation charge could only be met by a further reduction in activities. This clearly runs counter to the interests of the Organization, and is an unintended consequence of moving towards greater accountability. As with the 2014 budget, it is therefore proposed for 2015 and beyond that the incremental annual depreciation charges for 2015 on the building (CHF 60,000) and FIPOI loan (CHF 67,000) be authorized to be covered using the WCF.
12. The redevelopment of the IPU website has already begun, as set out in the Strategy for 2012-2017 and supported by the Governing Council. The capital cost will be fully depreciated over four years. In 2014, the Governing Council agreed that the IPU must be willing to invest some of its accumulated reserve growth into servicing the depreciation cost of this vital investment. It is once again proposed that the budgeted annual depreciation charge on the website (estimated at CHF 110,000 for 2015) be authorized to be covered by the WCF until it has been fully depreciated.
13. As in previous years, these offsets will only be used if needed at the end of the budget period. The Secretariat has in the past received Governing Council approval to use the WCF against the general budget. For the past three years, its use has been authorized but not required due to other operational savings that were achieved. The same conditions would apply to these very specific cases in 2015.
14. With the continuing pressure to reduce Member contributions and expenditure, balancing the budget has become increasingly difficult year on year, at a time when other international membership organizations are beginning to increase contributions after a period of freeze or reduction. The Secretariat continues to make every effort to drive down its costs and to prioritize and streamline activities. Efforts will continue to be made to supplement membership support with voluntary income insofar as this does not threaten the independence of the IPU and its ability to pursue its own clear and unique set of objectives. The Secretariat will pursue its efforts to bring in new Members whose contributions will help to ease the financial burden on existing Members.

1.2 Medium-term outlook

15. The global economy has regained some momentum during the past year, though recovery from the financial crisis and subsequent Great Recession continues to be both slow and uncertain. Forecasts for different regions suggest varying growth patterns and the recovery is likely to be uneven.
16. This year is expected to see the winding down of government asset purchase programmes in major economies, the largest economics experiment of modern times and an unprecedented attempt to improve market confidence and speed up recovery from recession. The real challenge will not be the ending of this quantitative easing so much as the monetary tightening that will follow and, with it, the potential resumption of inflation as interest rates increase from the historically low levels of recent years.
17. In the Eurozone, unemployment has finally begun to decrease in all countries and the indicators suggest growing stability with regard to employment for 2015. The US economy appears to be on track for growth strong enough to keep reducing unemployment. As a consequence, the Federal Reserve has increased its projections for short-term interest rates in 2015 and 2016, despite a slightly reduced outlook for rates in the longer run.
18. In Switzerland, the Swiss National Bank has continued to maintain its currency discipline and CHF 1.20 exchange rate floor against the euro. The Swiss franc has been trading at about 1.22 during 2014. Despite some risks in the banking sector, Switzerland has retained its AAA rating and a trade surplus throughout the period since 2008. The Swiss market is experiencing positive signs with regard to inflation and exports. Inflation has moved from negative towards positive territory and is projected to remain low but positive in 2015. As the Eurozone regains its strength and stability, Switzerland also benefits.

19. Parliamentary budgets in many of the more mature economies remain under pressure from the effects of public sector spending reviews. In 2015, the IPU budget will respond to these concerns, not merely by freezing current Member contributions as in the past two years, but actually reducing them by a further 3.4 per cent. For as long as the assessed contributions from existing Members are not permitted to increase, the only additional income through assessed contributions will come from new Members joining the Organization. It is estimated that this will bring an additional CHF 40,000 in 2015.
20. By contrast, voluntary contributions are projected to show considerable growth in 2015 and continue at a higher level for at least the next two years. New or renewed partnership agreements are being concluded with a range of major donor organizations to bring the voluntary income up to 22 per cent of the consolidated budget (compared with 11 per cent of the budget in 2014). With this level of support from partners, the IPU will be able expand its services and programmes under the first two Strategic Directions. Revenue from interest and investments is also expected to rise slightly from 2014 as interest rates gradually normalize and the global economy strengthens.

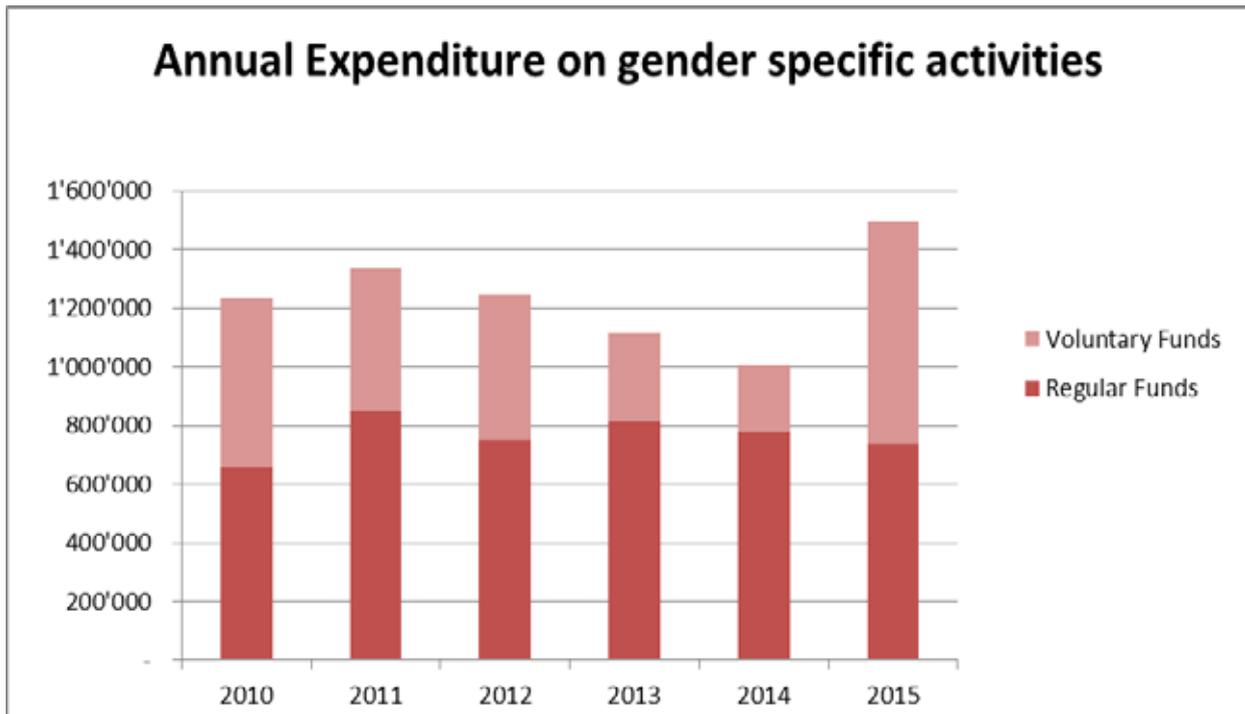

1.3 Environmental impact

21. As part of the IPU's commitment to tackle climate change, the Organization established 2000 as its base year and calculates its greenhouse gas emissions in order to track progress and identify priority areas for action. The IPU's target is to reduce emissions to 90 per cent of the base-year levels. This target is consistent with the pledge made by Switzerland, the host country, under the Kyoto Protocol.
22. The direct emissions of the IPU were 43 tonnes of CO₂ in the base year. From 2000 to 2005, IPU direct emissions increased by 75 per cent to 75 tonnes as a result of the move to larger office premises. Over the same period, the IPU's indirect emissions from official travel, paper consumption and commuting decreased by 20 per cent from 1,231 tonnes to 985 tonnes due to the decision to hold one Assembly each year in Geneva. However, since 2005, official travel outside of Assemblies has increased steadily, wiping out earlier gains. Nevertheless, the IPU stands out as the only international organization that is offsetting all of its CO₂ emissions.
23. In 2008, the IPU switched from petrol to diesel to reduce emissions from local transportation. The Organization obtains its electricity entirely from hydraulic sources on offer by the local utility company. The Headquarters has a state-of-the-art heating system and controls, thus limiting the options for further reducing energy consumption. However, the IPU continues to seek and employ environmentally sustainable sources for all required office materials and supplies, systematically uses its printers/photocopiers to make double-sided printouts, recycles paper and, wherever possible, limits the amount of documents that are printed.
24. This budget includes a provision of CHF 32,000 to offset carbon emissions from regular activities in 2015. The idea of offsetting greenhouse gas emissions by paying for projects that reduce the gases elsewhere was adopted in Kyoto, Japan, in 1997.
25. In 2015, the Governing Council will be requested to appropriate funds from the reserve for offsetting carbon emissions to pay for any IPU climate change activities undertaken.

1.4 Gender analysis

26. Over the past decade, the IPU has kept a clear focus on gender-specific programming, i.e. work to promote and support the participation of women in politics. This work represents the IPU's Strategic Objective 2, with gender-specific programming receiving 6 per cent of the appropriations from the regular budget.

- 27. Following the global financial crisis and a more conservative approach to budgeting for voluntary funds, the initial expectations for external funding of gender activities had been lowered to CHF 230,600 in 2014. Actual results achieved will, however, be much higher; already by the beginning of 2014 the Gender Programme expected income from external donors of over half a million Swiss francs for the year. A further increase in commitments of voluntary funding, including to gender-based activities, is anticipated in 2015. Some major donors are now finalizing their funding plans, which will allow an estimated CHF 760,000 to be assigned to the Gender Partnership Programme in 2015.
- 28. Together, the estimates of core resources and voluntary funding for gender-based activities amount to CHF 1.5 million, which now represents 10 per cent of the total consolidated budget.

2. Income

2.1 Assessed contributions

29. Most of the IPU's operating revenue comes from Members' assessed contributions. Over the decade leading up to 2011, contributions increased at an average of 3 per cent per year to meet the cost of inflation. 2012 saw a dramatic cut in IPU contributions following the budget restrictions faced internally by many Members, followed by a freeze in 2013 and 2014. In the 2015 budget, current Members' assessed contributions will again be cut by a further 3.4 per cent, aside from the addition of any new Members. Total assessed contributions for 2015 are budgeted at CHF 10,572,500, plus an additional CHF 40,000 for new Members.
30. In 2011, the Governing Council decided to update the IPU scale of assessment automatically in line with changes to the UN scale. The IPU contributions scale presented with this budget therefore remains in line with the latest UN scale for 2013-2015.

2.2 Staff assessment

31. As international civil servants, IPU staff members pay a staff assessment or internal income tax to the IPU. The rate of staff assessment is established by the International Civil Service Commission. This system of internal taxation will generate gross returns of CHF 1,050,300 in 2015 to the benefit of all Member Parliaments. However, to avoid double taxation, the Organization is obliged to refund the portion of the staff assessment corresponding to the national income tax imposed on staff members living in France. Such refunds are budgeted at CHF 50,000 for 2015. The Secretariat remains in negotiations with the French Government in a bid to obtain an exemption from this obligation.

2.3 Other revenues

32. Incidental revenues from administration fees, room rentals, book sales, etc. are expected to amount to CHF 16,000 in 2015. Interest and investment revenues are projected slightly higher at CHF 108,200 in light of expected increases in interest rates.

2.4 Voluntary contributions

33. Strong resource mobilization is projected to bring voluntary contributions to over 22 per cent of the total consolidated budget, double the amount budgeted for 2014. The 2011-2014 partnership agreement with Sida finished in June 2014 and a continuation agreement has been negotiated for a further three years, beginning in July 2014. A total of at least CHF 1.3 million is projected for use against the 2015 budget. Negotiations have also concluded successfully with other partners for renewal of funding while the IPU continues to solicit new donors. A five-year partnership with Worldwide Support for Development will provide US$ 600,000 per year until 2018 across all areas of IPU programmes, with a focus on Asia. A new grant from Irish Aid of € 450,000 over three years for the Gender Partnership Programme is already being implemented. USAID has committed further grant funding of US$ 150,000 which will extend into 2015. The United Arab Emirates has signed a partnership agreement with the IPU to improve IPU communications with the Arab world and increase technical assistance in the Middle East and North Africa.
34. In addition, the IPU will receive a projected CHF 300,000 from UNDP and the European Commission for capacity-building in 2015. The development programme mobilized and spent CHF 320,000 in 2013 from a range of partners, including the Norwegian Agency for Development Cooperation (Norad), the Partnership for Maternal, Newborn and Child Health (PMNCH) and the World Health Organization (WHO) for maternal, newborn and child health activities. Several other donors have been approached to provide support for the least developed countries initiative and gender and development activities. As a result, the 2015 income budget includes an amount of CHF 3,514,600 in voluntary contributions.

3. Expenditures

3.1 Strategic Direction 1 – Better parliaments, stronger democracies

Objective 1 – Better functioning parliaments

Overall Objective

To strengthen parliaments so that they can contribute to democracy and meet the aspirations of citizens.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

The review conducted in early 2014 of the 2012-2017 IPU Strategy concluded that Strategic Direction One (“Better Parliaments, Stronger Democracies”) is at the heart of the IPU’s work. At a time of increasing demand for parliamentary development assistance and reducing financial resources, the IPU will therefore continue to prioritize this area of work.

The IPU will maintain its efforts to enhance the capacity of national parliaments through its technical cooperation programme. It will continue to support parliaments that seek help in facing challenges posed by national and global upheavals. As in the past, the IPU will focus on supporting the parliaments of post-conflict and transitional countries. This is particularly the case in Myanmar and Egypt, where the IPU has laid the groundwork in 2014 for major programmes in partnership with the parliament.

The IPU will continue to develop and promote standards and guidelines for good parliamentary practice and better integrate its work on research, standard-setting and technical assistance through enhanced teamwork and planning within the IPU Secretariat, and in close collaboration with Member Parliaments.

IPU supports parliaments to better deliver on/for democracy. In view of the growing importance Member Parliaments attach to reaching out and involving youth in decision-making, the IPU has taken a stance to enhance youth participation. In 2015, knowledge and information on youth participation in parliament will be produced and disseminated, parliaments will be assisted in their efforts to open-up to young people and young parliamentarians will be empowered.

Priority will be given to the following areas:

- Building parliamentary capacity by providing advisory services and technical assistance to strengthen democracy through parliaments with a special focus on parliaments in countries emerging from conflict or in transition.
- Providing support to parliaments through the use of various tools developed by the IPU such as the Common Principles for Parliamentary Development, the self-assessment toolkit, the Plan of Action for Gender-sensitive Parliaments, and indicators for democratic parliaments, currently being developed.
- Continuing work to improve the delivery and impact of technical assistance in line with the 2011 technical assistance review, with an increased focus on developing parliamentary performance indicators. An additional focus will be placed on effectively using resources through greater prioritization of capacity-building support.
- Re-launching the PARLINE database on national parliaments as part of the new IPU website, with an increased focus on comparable data on parliamentary powers, structures and working methods.
- Publishing the World e-Parliament Report, which provides a state-of-the-art analysis of the use of ICT in parliament, and laying the groundwork for the organization of a World e-Parliament Conference in 2016.
- Carrying out research for the second Global Parliamentary Report, building on the lessons learned from the first Report launched in 2012.
- Mobilizing an ever greater number of parliaments around the International Day of Democracy, 15 September, in order to strengthen dialogue between parliaments and citizens.

- Maintaining IPU participation in the international democracy debate, providing parliamentary input to the major international democracy movements and encouraging rapprochement between them.
- Supporting parliaments to open up to youth by raising awareness, producing guidelines for parliaments, collecting and maintaining data on young parliamentarians and producing comparative information on youth participation.
- Empowering young members of parliaments through mentorship, capacity-building and networking.

The IPU will continue to develop strong and healthy partnerships that provide access to expertise, give visibility to its work, and increase the scope and volume of its activities. It will strengthen its partnership with parliaments, which are its primary target audience and source of information. The Organization will also strengthen existing partnerships with institutions and organizations that work to enhance parliamentary development and establish new or build stronger partnerships with parliamentary organizations and universities. The capacity-building programme will continue to work towards better coordination and cooperation among parliamentary development practitioners at the national level.

Gender Mainstreaming

The IPU seeks to mainstream gender in all activities to strengthen democracy through parliaments. The Resource Centre collects data on the number of women parliamentarians and records this data in the PARLINE database. It provides evidence underpinning advocacy for the enhanced participation of women in political life. In technical assistance projects, prominence is given to raising awareness of the cross-cutting issue of gender and ensuring the involvement of women in decision-making, particularly in post-conflict countries. Parliaments are urged to ensure the full participation of women in project activities. Through the youth participation-related activities, particular emphasis will be placed on young women as stakeholders and on gender equality as a guiding principle and objective.

To achieve a gender partnership in political life by facilitating women's access to, and influence in, parliament and to enhance parliament's capacity to embody and champion gender equality.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

Gender equality in politics remains far from being attained, with a mere 22% of women MPs worldwide in June 2014. While some progress has been made, the pace of change is too slow. Gender equality issues have nevertheless become part and parcel of the political agendas of parliaments and their members, both men and women, as evidenced by the fact that more parliaments are requesting IPU assistance on gender-related issues.

2015 will be a crucial year for the gender equality debate. The Beijing+20 review will take place and will be an opportunity to highlight progress achieved and set priorities for the years to come. Gender equality is also at the core of discussions on the new set of development goals. In 2015, the IPU will also celebrate the 30th anniversary of its Meeting of Women Parliamentarians.

Research will remain a key component of the IPU's work on gender equality. IPU findings in this area have gained international recognition and contributed to debates and the development of strategies in support of women. They also feed into the IPU's technical assistance work by providing examples of lessons learned, best practices and concrete strategies for progress. In 2015, the IPU will continue to provide comparative information on women's participation in politics, including by analysing the progress made and setbacks suffered by women in parliaments over the past 20 years, and the best means of supporting women in politics, as a contribution to the Beijing+20 review. It will continue to participate in major online knowledge platforms and databases on women in politics, including iKNOWPolitics. The IPU will also engage in a global research project on the influence of women in parliament.

In 2015, the IPU will continue to build on the Plan of Action for Gender-sensitive Parliaments adopted in 2011 by the IPU membership. It will help parliaments conduct self-assessments of their level of gender sensitivity, enhance their functioning and mainstream gender in their structures, processes, budgets, planning and work. The IPU will also assess the various sorts of discrimination and violence that are faced by women once they have been elected to parliament, with a view to developing guidelines to address those challenges.

In 2015, the IPU will also continue to respond to the needs of women parliamentarians at the national and regional levels, organizing capacity-building activities, skill-building sessions and workshops on specific gender issues. It will focus on supporting women's parliamentary caucuses and facilitating exchanges and mentorship between women MPs, whether nationally, regionally or internationally.

Promoting respect for women's rights will remain a priority for the IPU in 2015. Efforts will continue to centre on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women. The IPU will continue to support greater parliamentary involvement in the Convention reporting process and will assist parliaments to implement the Convention nationally. It will implement activities aimed at helping parliaments identify discriminatory provisions and practices and reform the legislative framework. The Meeting of Women Speakers of Parliament will provide gender-related input for the Fourth World Conference of Speakers of Parliament. The 2015 annual parliamentary meeting held alongside a session of the Commission on the Status of Women will focus on the Beijing+20 review and the role of parliaments in safeguarding women's rights.

In 2015, the IPU will continue to assist parliaments to take action to put an end to violence against women and enforce a strong and effective legal framework that prevents and addresses all forms of violence against women. It will build on the deliberations of the General Debate at the 131st IPU Assembly, on Achieving gender equality, ending violence against women. Activities will include training seminars, legislative drafting assistance, and support for awareness-raising activities and public consultations, and for parliamentary oversight and monitoring mechanisms.

Gender Mainstreaming

All of the activities in this section aim to enhance women's participation in political processes and mainstream gender within parliaments and the IPU. Particular attention will be paid to encouraging men to participate in the activities and ensuring that gender issues are addressed by representatives of both sexes. The Programme provides support and input, whenever possible, to the work of other programmes and divisions, thereby contributing to gender mainstreaming efforts within the IPU.

Objective 3 – Greater respect for human rights

Overall Objective

To defend the human rights of parliamentarians and enhance the contribution of parliaments to the promotion and protection of human rights.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

In March 2014, the IPU Governing Council adopted revised Rules and Practices for the Committee on the Human rights of Parliamentarians, with a view to lending a more personalized and proactive approach to its work, in particular through more on-site missions and stronger public visibility for cases of human rights abuses affecting parliamentarians. In 2015, the Committee will continue to implement the revised Rules and Practices and explore additional avenues for stronger cooperation with the IPU membership at large, in order to put into effect the fundamental principle of “parliamentary solidarity” that continues to underpin the Committee’s procedure.

In 2014, the UN Human Rights Council adopted a landmark resolution in support of stronger synergies between the Council and parliaments, in particular so as to promote their involvement in the Council’s universal periodic review (the mechanism whereby it regularly examines the human rights records of all UN Member States). To help implement this resolution, the IPU started in 2014 to organize regional meetings to promote greater involvement by parliaments in the work of UN human rights monitoring mechanisms. It will pursue these efforts in 2015 at regional and national level.

In the area of children’s rights, the IPU will continue to mobilize parliaments in 2015 for the protection and well-being of children. In so doing, it will place special emphasis on malnutrition and promoting pro-nutrition policies. It will rely on its fruitful partnership with UNICEF for the effective implementation of this work.

In 2015, the IPU should also have made significant progress towards adopting, in line with its Strategy, a rights-based approach and, if possible, started with its implementation.

The IPU will continue to help parliaments ensure respect for international humanitarian law, mainly through the activities of its Committee to Promote Respect for International Humanitarian Law. It will continue to support parliaments' efforts aimed at the dissemination, teaching, wider appreciation and enforcement of humanitarian and refugee protection law, including in respect of statelessness and internal displacement. It plans to carry out missions to keep the parliamentary community abreast of developments in this field.

Gender Mainstreaming

Gender is a cross-cutting issue and policies and activities implemented within the Human Rights Programme will be gender-sensitive and serve to promote gender equality, including by ensuring the equal participation and involvement of men and women. Gender is also a human rights issue as it relates to women's political rights. The IPU's Human Rights and Gender Partnership Programmes are therefore mutually reinforcing.

3.2 Strategic Direction 2 – More international involvement of parliaments

Objective 4 – Stronger parliamentary dimension to the work of multilateral institutions

Overall Objective

To enhance the strategic partnership between the IPU and the United Nations system and strengthen the parliamentary voice in international affairs. To further develop dialogue and cooperation with other multilateral institutions, in particular the World Trade Organization (WTO).

Issues and Challenges in 2015

The IPU is the primary vehicle for parliamentary cooperation with the United Nations, and it continues to work on effectively delivering on this mandate. By ensuring that national parliaments can capitalize on IPU engagement with the United Nations and are better informed about UN operations, the IPU enables them to influence decision-making on global issues and facilitate country-level implementation of international commitments.

The IPU will endeavour to build on the gains of the previous years and further enhance the parliamentary dimension to international cooperation. Having already developed a number of avenues of interaction with the United Nations, work in 2015 will focus on deepening interaction with respect to key policy areas. The IPU will also pay particular attention to the elaboration of a new Cooperation Agreement with the United Nations, which would reflect developments over the past 20 years and place the UN-IPU institutional relationship on a stronger footing.

At both the Fourth World Conference of Speakers of Parliament and the UN summit on the post-2015 development agenda in September 2015, the focus will be on taking stock of progress towards achieving the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and developing the sustainable development goals (SDGs). The IPU will continue its work to ensure that the SDGs have a strong governance component, in the form of a goal and as a cross-cutting issue. It will see to it that the role and responsibility of parliaments in the implementation of the post-2015 development agenda are clearly articulated in the UN summit outcome document.

The UN General Assembly is the main deliberative body of the United Nations. The IPU will therefore engage with it about the implementation of the new General Assembly consensus resolution on interaction between the United Nations, national parliaments and the IPU (resolution 68/272 of 19 May 2014), in order to provide a parliamentary perspective on major global processes.

The Committee on United Nations Affairs, now a standing committee of the IPU, will be called upon to play a particularly important role by providing a permanent forum for interaction between parliamentarians and key UN officials, reviewing implementation of major international commitments and shaping parliamentary input to UN deliberations. In keeping with recent changes to the IPU Statutes and Rules, there will be scope for interaction between the four IPU standing committees, including in terms of submitting substantive proposals for the consideration of other committees, and hence mainstreaming key global issues into the work plans of the other IPU bodies.

Given the interest expressed by the UN Security Council in enhancing parliamentary support for its decisions, a special effort will be made to advance the issues of counter-terrorism and non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction.

Lastly, reform of the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) has provided new avenues for the IPU to facilitate a robust parliamentary input. This is the case of continued IPU work in the Development Cooperation Forum (DCF), as well a promising start of cooperation in the context of the new High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development (HLPF) and the ECOSOC Youth Forum.

Based on the success of the joint efforts of the IPU and the European Parliament over the past decade, the IPU will continue to sustain and develop the Parliamentary Conference on the WTO as a mechanism of parliamentary oversight of this key intergovernmental organization responsible for rules-setting and dispute resolution in the area of international trade.

Priority in 2015 will be given to the following areas:

- Enhancing partnerships with the United Nations to strengthen parliamentary institutions, particularly in countries emerging from conflict and/or in transition to democracy, on the basis of the unique expertise of the IPU and its Member Parliaments;
- Enriching the parliamentary dimension of the United Nations by participating in relevant policy- and decision-making debates at the United Nations, in particular as concerns recently established UN bodies (the Human Rights Council, the Development Cooperation Forum, the High-level Political Forum, the UN Peacebuilding Commission and UN Women);
- Holding hearings with senior UN officials, conducting missions to examine UN field operations, consolidating the role of the IPU Committee on United Nations Affairs and its new Bureau, and developing parliamentary input for global processes and negotiations;
- Working closely with the United Nations in the context of preparations for both the Fourth World Conference of Speakers of Parliament and the UN Summit on the post-2015 development agenda;
- Making a strong parliamentary contribution to the preparation of the next generation of development goals, with an enhanced emphasis on the critical role of democratic governance, strong and effective institutions, and the rule of law;
- Implementing the provisions of the robust and forward-looking new UN General Assembly resolution on Interaction between the United Nations, national parliaments and the IPU.
- Elaborating a new and updated cooperation agreement between the two organizations, building on the progress since 1996 and placing the institutional relationship on a stronger footing.
- Continuing to strengthen the capacity of parliaments to address international trade issues domestically and to oversee multilateral trade negotiations, through the Parliamentary Conference on the WTO (annual plenary meeting held at WTO Headquarters in Geneva and two sessions of the Conference Steering Committee, one each in Geneva and Brussels).

Gender Mainstreaming

To promote gender equality and the political empowerment of women, the IPU will continue to work with the main UN bodies, in particular UN Women. The IPU Office in New York will pay even closer attention to gender balance when organizing meetings at the United Nations. It will continue to seek greater visibility for the work of the IPU and its Member Parliaments on gender mainstreaming, in UN debates and reports.

This work will include development of required capacities and competencies in the parliaments of selected countries to contribute to better MNCH outcomes. The IPU will also focus on bringing a parliamentary perspective to important national, regional and global processes relating to women's and children's health. · Strengthening the role of parliaments in the oversight of development processes and country-led frameworks to monitor progress and promote mutual accountability in aid and development cooperation. The IPU will represent the global parliamentary community in the Global Partnership for Effective Development Cooperation and the DCF. · Providing members of parliament with access to relevant policy expertise and skills to properly exercise their duties of law-making, oversight, leadership and advocacy in the HIV/AIDS context. Special attention will be paid to strengthening parliamentary leadership for accelerating access to HIV treatment, including paediatric HIV treatment. The IPU will also keep its focus on the impact of punitive and discriminatory laws on the AIDS response and protection of the rights of populations most affected by the epidemic. · 2015 will also see a stronger focus on climate change negotiations through work around the 21st session of the Conference of the Parties to the UNFCCC in Paris, which is expected to adopt a legally binding and universal agreement on climate. |

Objective 6 – Improved parliamentary contribution to peacebuilding and conflict prevention

Overall Objective

To strengthen parliament's contribution to peacebuilding by helping to establish a framework that is conducive to dialogue and inclusiveness in decision-making bodies and promoting parliamentary involvement in the national reconciliation agenda.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

The challenges of building consensus are particularly acute for parliaments in countries that have recently experienced conflict, upheaval or transition. Such parliaments are often called on to provide a forum for promoting national reconciliation at a time when State institutions are themselves in need of reinforcement and national decision-making frameworks need to be as inclusive as possible and provide avenues for cooperation between the opposition and the majority in order for the country to recover. The IPU provides support to many such parliaments, particularly in countries receiving assistance in the context of the UN Peacebuilding Commission.

The highly volatile political environment in which these activities take place means that unpredictable events such as early elections or changes to the leadership and administration of parliaments pose significant challenges, as do divergent political agendas in parliament.

The IPU in recent years has also made sustained efforts in the area of disarmament and non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction (WMDs). It has adopted ground-breaking resolutions on nuclear disarmament, designed handbooks and other tools for parliamentarians, and is working with partners at the country level to encourage debate and action in parliaments on these critical issues. The IPU is also responding to calls from the UN Security Council for greater parliamentary involvement in meeting international commitments in the areas of counter-terrorism and non-proliferation of WMDs.

The IPU will give priority to the following areas:

- Assisting parliaments in establishing inclusive mechanisms for decision-making in order to ensure that all members participate in devising policies that serve the common good.
- Building parliaments' capacity in inclusiveness, dialogue and democratic decision-making processes by organizing regional seminars on the topics and following up, when requested, with the provision of technical assistance to ensure implementation of identified good practices at national level.
- Reinforcing the involvement of the parliament in conflict prevention and in national reconciliation processes.
- Promoting dialogue between parties through the Committee on Middle East Questions and the Group of Facilitators for Cyprus.
- Increasing the IPU's presence and activity in countries in transition in the Middle East and Africa.
- Engaging with Member Parliaments and the UN Security Council in helping to implement IPU and UN resolutions on nuclear disarmament and the non-proliferation of WMDs.

Gender Mainstreaming

Prominence is given to raising awareness of the cross-cutting issue of gender and ensuring the involvement of women in decision-making, particularly in post-conflict countries. Parliaments are urged to ensure the full participation of women in project activities and to send gender-balanced delegations to seminars. The IPU will pay particular attention to the effects of conflict on women and the role of women in peacebuilding and reconciliation processes.

3.3 Strategic Direction 3 – The IPU as a more effective instrument of parliamentary cooperation

Objective 7 – Achievement of universal membership and enhanced Member relations

Overall Objective

To make the IPU more relevant to its Members and advance towards universal membership. To enhance engagement by parliaments and parliamentarians in IPU meetings and other activities, paying special attention to political and gender balance and youth participation. To make the annual Assemblies more effective and facilitate greater coherence in parliamentary cooperation.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

At IPU Assemblies and other IPU events, Member Parliaments exchange views and address topical issues of pressing global concern. Delegations typically bring a broad and unique perspective to these events and debates, as they include senior representatives from across the national political spectrum. As well as providing a formal platform for convening Members, IPU Assemblies also create opportunities for bilateral meetings and parliamentary diplomacy.

More relevant and effective Assemblies require a topical agenda, comprehensive and timely documentation, a format which is conducive to dialogue and interaction, as well as the participation of legislators who regularly deal with the issues under consideration. With the establishment of the new Bureaux for each of the four IPU Standing Committees, there is scope for a more proactive involvement by the Members in setting the agenda, devising the work programmes of the Committees, and substantively engaging with the IPU throughout the year. The IPU Secretariat, in turn, will make every effort to ensure regular communication with Bureaux members and the broader membership both during and outside the Assemblies. Efforts will also be made to enhance interaction between the IPU's statutory bodies and the geopolitical groups. The Joint Meeting of the Standing Committee Bureaux and Chairs of the Geopolitical Groups will be one additional step in this direction.

In 2015, the changes to the IPU Statutes and Rules will become fully operational, allowing for the new format for IPU Assemblies, as well as an expanded mandate for the IPU Standing Committees: to discuss topical issues and adopt relevant resolutions; undertake operational activities; commission reports; and monitor follow-up and implementation of previous resolutions. The IPU Committee on the Human Rights of Parliamentarians and the newly-established Forum of Young Parliamentarians, now statutory IPU bodies equipped with specific Rules, will be better placed to interact with and bring their own contribution to the work of the other IPU bodies.

Last but not least, the IPU will deploy every effort to ensure the organization of a very successful Fourth World Conference of Speakers of Parliament in 2015, which aims to address the critical challenges facing the international community, further bridge the democracy gap in international relations, and contribute in a major way to the shaping and implementation of the new sustainable development goals.

In 2015, priority will be given to the following areas:

- Enhancing dialogue and cooperation (including through joint activities) with non-member parliaments in the Pacific and Oceania region and in the Caribbean, as well as with the US Congress, in view of future IPU membership. The IPU will continue to engage with and support partnership in marginalized regions such as the Pacific and Caribbean by bringing more capacity-building programmes to the parliaments of these regions and promoting policy debate on issues relevant to them such as climate change.
- Improving the working modalities of the IPU, in particular the Standing Committees and their Bureaux, thus enhancing the participation of parliaments and parliamentarians in IPU Assemblies.
- Modernizing the format of the annual IPU Assemblies, promoting environment-friendly solutions and seeking to diversify the type of activities organized for Members during Assemblies.

- Supporting a more active role for the geopolitical groups and political party organizations during the annual IPU Assemblies.
- Working with Members to ensure better follow-up and implementation of IPU decisions and recommendations, and enhancing the statutory reporting process by Members.
- Developing closer ties and working relationships with regional and other parliamentary organizations with a view to building synergies and strengthening efforts in areas of mutual interest.
- Engaging with parliamentary leaders and the United Nations in preparation for a successful Fourth Conference of Speakers of Parliament.

Gender Mainstreaming

The Meeting of Women Parliamentarians, the Coordinating Committee of Women Parliamentarians and the Gender Partnership Group work to ensure that women delegates are involved at all levels of the Assembly's work, and that Members continue to strive for the target of 30 per cent women delegates. To this end, work on implementing a Plan of Action for Gender-sensitive Parliaments, as well as a set of guidelines on gender balance in parliamentary delegations, is being pursued. Gender mainstreaming will continue in a variety of ways, both in terms of IPU decisions and outcomes as well as ensuring gender equality among IPU office-holders (as of March 2014, the percentage of women as Standing Committee Bureau members was at 42%).

Objective 8 – Enhanced IPU visibility

Overall Objective

To raise awareness and knowledge of the work and mandate of the IPU and its membership among various audiences with a view to establishing the Organization in the long term as the reference on parliaments and democracy in the world.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

IPU Communications is continuing to build on the considerable work carried out and progress made in recent years to raise awareness and visibility of the Organization and cement its position as a unique institution with unmatched expertise on democracy and parliaments.

These include developing tools and mechanisms to inform multiple audiences in a more dynamic manner of the work of IPU and its Members as well as on issues related to democracy, peace, equality and human rights. Work to build recognition of IPU’s visual identity adopted at the end of 2013 through all IPU communications and ensuring adherence to the IPU graphics charter by the Secretariat and Members, will also continue. Similarly, the Communications Division will pursue efforts to raise greater awareness in regions where the Organization is largely absent or little known through communications in Arabic and Spanish, a practice which is already having some impact among various target audiences. It will also build on work to significantly increase communication outreach to target audiences. The building of the new IPU website and other online tools will continue to make progress.

Priority will be given to the following:

- Building a new, modern website better able to meet user needs in English and French.
- Centralizing and streamlining the management of electronic and online data in order to enhance communications with both IPU membership and targeted audiences.
- Enhancing online and interactive channels of communication with IPU Members.
- Publications on the IPU and parliamentary issues that support and strengthen efforts to position the Organization and its work and support IPU fund-raising efforts.
- Increasing outreach to media and Members.
- Consolidation of the new visual identity for IPU.

Gender Mainstreaming

Every effort will be made to ensure that a gender perspective is incorporated into all communication policies, programmes and activities and that communications material produced by the IPU is gender-sensitive both in form and content.

Objective 9 – Improved operational management, governance and internal oversight

Overall Objective

To provide leadership and direction to the Organization and its Secretariat. To provide better services to the Members and mainstream gender throughout the Organization. To modernize key business practices that impact on cost effectiveness, efficiency and accountability. To upgrade IPU management systems and procedures, in particular in the area of human resources, financial systems and communications. Strengthen governance and oversight.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

The overall objective of the Strategy for 2012-2017 is to help Members build an IPU that is universal, dynamic, effective and able to advance democratic culture, values and institutions through cooperation among parliaments.

Priority will be given to the following areas:

- Consolidating reforms in the organizational structure of the Secretariat as a result of the transition to a new Secretary General.
- Strengthening internal governance and oversight, servicing the Sub-Committee on Finance and developing and implementing a resource-mobilization policy for the Organization.
- Upgrading IPU management systems and procedures and consolidating a results-based management system while continuing to integrate modern ICT and an updated performance evaluation system throughout the Organization.

In 2015, the IPU will implement a workplan to mainstream gender in all of its work and structures, based on the gender mainstreaming document adopted by the organisation in October 2013. It will also lay the foundations for a human rights-based approach to the work of the Organization.

Gender Mainstreaming

The Executive Office will continue to direct and oversee the implementation of a gender-mainstreaming policy for the Organization. Mainstreaming involves ensuring that a gender perspective and the goal of gender equality are central to all activities - policy development, research, advocacy, dialogue, legislation, resource allocation, and planning, implementation and monitoring of programmes and projects.

3.4 Support Services

Overall Objective

To manage the material, financial and human resources of the IPU efficiently, equitably and cost effectively, to give administrative policy guidance to the Secretariat and to safeguard the assets of the Organization.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

The Support Services Division made further improvements to its processes and systems both in the area of human resources and financial management in 2014.

Priority will be given to the following areas in 2015:

- Ensuring full compliance with the comprehensive staff evaluation system (after two years of implementation, a review will be carried out to establish which areas require improvement);
- Improving financial reporting tools to support the Secretariat in implementing its results-based management;
- Ensuring full compliance with IPSAS and reflecting this compliance in restructured financial statements and annual reporting.

The Division will continue to improve processes and control systems and to service the Executive Committee's Sub-Committee on Finance.

Gender Mainstreaming

The budget process requires all managers to identify the gender issues relevant to their division or programme in order to mainstream gender.

The specific gender issues identified within the Support Services Division relate to recruitment and training. As the result of a proactive policy of employment equity, women continue to make up more than half of the professional service in the Secretariat. The budget includes information on the composition of the Secretariat in Section 3.7.

Human resource policies are regularly reviewed to ensure they do not disadvantage women.

3.5 Provisions and Grants

Overall Objective

To provide adequate funding for present and future liabilities in accordance with prudent financial management practice and to fund a grant to the Association of Secretaries General of Parliaments (ASGP) to ensure its functioning.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

Financial provisions and grant payments need to be made in appropriate amounts and in accordance with clear and approved policies. Policy bases need to be developed for the five financial provisions and grants included in the budget.

The IPU sets aside funds to be used to offset CO₂ emissions from its activities, primarily travel. The amount of the contribution is currently determined by an online calculator, which estimates the investment that is required to compensate emissions from travel reported by the Secretariat.

A reserve has been established for maintenance work on IPU Headquarters – The House of Parliaments. At the beginning of 2015, this reserve is projected to hold a balance of CHF 373,000.

The reserve for doubtful accounts is a provision that comes into effect in the event that certain Members are suspended and their contributions, which have already been recognized as revenue, are never received. Based on historical payment performance, the expected 2015 contribution to the provision has been reduced to 0.6 per cent of assessed contributions.

The IPU provides an annual grant to the ASGP in an amount that is determined each year. This is provided at a level that is sufficient to meet expenses not funded from other sources. The grant is reduced in 2015 thanks to efficiencies made in the ASGP's production of publications.

The IPU is contractually bound to guarantee the payment of the pensions of 11 former employees of the Secretariat. The closed pension fund is consolidated into the accounts of the IPU and its reserves are invested in a mixed portfolio of bonds and equities.

Gender Mainstreaming

The budget allocations under this heading have no particular impact on men or women. As a legacy of the former employee profile of the IPU, the pension payments from the legacy pension fund are paid evenly to women and men. Efforts must be made to ensure that the ASGP has a gender-sensitive programme and working methods.

3.6 Capital Expenditures

Overall Objective

To make prudent capital expenditures that will enhance asset values or improve productivity or quality of work while ensuring that future capital charges are sustainable.

Issues and Challenges in 2015

The major factor affecting capital expenditure remains the comprehensive redevelopment of the IPU website. These costs will be capitalized and depreciated over four years. After review, research and preparation in 2014, the development period is anticipated to run from the moment the website developer is recruited until the new site becomes operational, in keeping with IPU management expectations. The development phase is anticipated to be largely implemented by the end of 2014 with some work to complete in 2015.

Apart from the website, no major capital expenditures are foreseen in the medium term. Nevertheless, the Executive Committee and Governing Council need to pay attention to the capital budget and, in particular, to the future projections for capital expenditures, taking into account changes in technology and economics and the sustainability of capital charges.

Gender Mainstreaming

The gender effects of the proposed capital expenditures are not quantifiable.

35. The 2015 budget includes a staff establishment of 42 full-time equivalent positions per year, two and a half positions more than the previous year's budget that will be funded from the increase in voluntary income. The table below shows the distribution of posts by strategic direction, objective, category and grade and the proportion of occupied posts currently filled by women (July 2014).

36. Grades are established in accordance with the United Nations common system of job classification. As a result of the restructuring in 2005, a few positions are occupied by incumbents at a higher grade than their position is classified although this number is now decreasing through attrition and career development. About two thirds of the Secretariat staff are women, who have achieved employment equity at all grades.
37. Annual adjustments to salaries are determined by the International Civil Service Commission. The budget for Secretariat staff salaries in 2015 from regular sources is CHF 5,719,900. A further appropriation of CHF 720,400 is foreseen for salaries for project personnel paid from other sources.
38. Benefits such as pensions, dependency allowances and child education allowances are provided to staff in accordance with the UN common system. Some other benefits, such as health and accident insurance, are defined internally by the IPU. The budget for staff benefits and overheads from regular sources will decrease by CHF 116,100 compared with 2014 to CHF 1,899,300, due to personnel changes involving different benefit entitlements. In addition, the staff benefits charged to voluntary-funded project budgets will be CHF 229,900.
