Previous data collection on Parliamentary Oversight
In 2001, in partnership with the World Bank Institute, IPU sent a questionnaire to parliaments on relations between the legislature and executive in the context of parliamentary oversight. 88 parliaments responded to that questionnaire. The data that was collected is available in the Parliamentary Oversight module of the PARLINE database on national parliaments. The results were analyzed in the publication Tools for parliamentary oversight: A comparative study of 88 national parliaments (http://www.ipu.org/english/books.htm#oversight08)

This new questionnaire is intended to update and complete the 2001 questionnaire. Some of the questions are the same as the ones the parliament may have answered in the 2001 survey. However, we ask you to answer them again this year, even if the answer is the same. We need to be able to compare results for all respondents between 2001 and 2009 so that we can track changes over time.

If your parliament responded to the 2001 questionnaire, the data can be accessed as follows:
- Go to the PARLINE database on national parliaments (www.ipu.org/parline)
- Select your country and chamber
- Click on the ‘Oversight’ tab in the navigation bar. Please note that the ‘Oversight’ tab is only displayed if your parliament responded to the 2001 questionnaire.
Definitions

- Head of State: denotes the individual/collective entity who/which is the official public figurehead of a country.

- Head of Government: denotes the individual/collective entity who/which is responsible for the overseeing of the administrative apparatus of the State (bureaucracy/civil service) on a day-to-day basis.

- It is important to note that the Head of State and the Head of Government may or may not be the same person/entity. For example in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland the Head of State is the Monarch (Queen Elizabeth II) while the Head of Government is the Prime Minister (at the time of writing Gordon Brown MP). Conversely, in the United States of America the President (at the time of writing Barack Obama) is simultaneously the Head of State and the Head of Government.

- Parliament: denotes the body which can make/amend or repeal statutory laws.

- Chamber: denotes a sub-component of Parliament. Specifically in all systems that are not unicameral Parliament will be composed of two (bicameral) or more chambers.

- Presidential System: denotes a system of government in which the executive (Head of Government) is selected/exists/presides independently of Parliament (e.g. Brazil, USA).

- Parliamentary System: denotes a system of government in which the executive (Head of Government) depends (directly or indirectly) on Parliament to maintain her office. In other words there is a fusion of the branches of government with the executive branch being drawn/depending on Parliament for survival (e.g. Canada, UK).

- Semi-Presidential System: denotes a hybrid system in which a legislatively independent presidents shares executive power with a legislatively dependent counterpart (usually a prime minister). In many cases the President’s cabinet also depends on Parliament to maintain office (e.g. France, Finland).
